Predicting Zomato Restaurants Rate

1. Business Problem

1.1 Problem Description

Restaurants from all over the world can be found here in Bengaluru. From United States to Japan, Russia to Antarctica, you get all type of cuisines here. Delivery, Dine-out, Pubs, Bars, Drinks,Buffet, Desserts you name it and Bengaluru has it. Bengaluru is best place for foodies. The number of restaurant are increasing day by day. Currently which stands at approximately 12,000 restaurants. With such an high number of restaurants. This industry hasn't been saturated yet. And new restaurants are opening every day. However it has become difficult for them to compete with already established restaurants. The key issues that continue to pose a challenge to them include high real estate costs, rising food costs, shortage of quality manpower, fragmented supply chain and over-licensing. This Zomato data aims at analysing demography of the location. Most importantly it will help new restaurants in deciding their theme, menus, cuisine, cost etc for a particular location. It also aims at finding similarity between neighborhoods of Bengaluru on the basis of food.

- Does demography of area matters?
- Does location of particular type of restraurant depends on people living in that area>
- Does theme of restraurant matters?
- Is food chain category restraurant likely to have more customers than its counter part?
- Are any neighbourhood on similar based on the type of food?
- Is particular neighbours is famous for itw own kind of food?
- If two neighbours are similar does that mean these are related or particular group of people live in neighbourhood or these are places to eat.
- What kind of food is famous in locality.
- Do entire locality loves veg food, if yes then locality populated by particular set of people eg Jain, Gujarati,Marwadi who are basically veg.

1.2 Problem Statement

The dataset also contains reviews for each of the restaurant which will help in finding overall rating for the place. So we will try to predict rating for particular restaurant.

1.3 Real world/Business Objectives

We need to predict rating based on different parameters like Average_cost for two people, Online Order available, foods,menu list, most liked dishes etc features.

1.4 Machine Learning Formulation

Here we suppose to predicted rating of restaurant, so it is basically Regression problem.

1.5 Perfomance Metric

We will try to reduce Mean Square Error ie MSE as minimum as possible. So it is Regression problem reducing MSE.

- Ideal MSE is 0.

Observation

- Minimum vote's value is 0, can be interpret as there are some restaurants who have 0 vote
- Maximum vote's value is 16832, there is a restaurant who has 16832.
- Average vote's values is 284, so average 284 votes for restaurant

Columns description

- url: contains the url of the restaurant in the zomato website
- address: contains the address of the restaurant in Bengaluru
- name: contains the name of the restaurant
- online_order: whether online ordering is available in the restaurant or not
- book_table: table book option available or not
- rate: contains the overall rating of the restaurant out of 5
- votes: contains total number of rating for the restaurant as of the above mentioned date
- phone: contains the phone number of the restaurant
- location: contains the neighborhood in which the restaurant is located
- rest_type: restaurant type
- dish_liked: dishes people liked in the restaurant
- cuisines: food styles, separated by comma
- approx_cost(for two people): contains the approximate cost for meal for two people
- reviews_list: list of tuples containing reviews for the restaurant, each tuple
- menu_item: contains list of menus available in the restaurant
- listed_in(type): type of meal
- listed_in(city): contains the neighborhood in which the restaurant is listed

2.2 Data Preprocess

2.2.1 Adjust column names and dropped irrelevant columns

In [8]:

explore columns related to the addrress
data.loc[:,['address','location','listed_in(city)']].sample(8,random_state=1)
```

Out[8]:

	address	location	listed_in(city)
8157	2A/3, 15th Cross, Green Garden Layout, Shirdi ...	Marathahalli	Brookefield
32498	18, Shreenidhi Arcade, Maruthi Nagar Main Road...	BTM	Koramangala 6th Block
4679	56, Near Passport Office, Outer Ring Road, Bel...	Bellandur	Bellandur
2445	14/6, 9th Main Road, Opposite Water Tank, 100 ...	BTM	Bannerghatta Road
27316	321/3A, Sharif Complex, Hosur Main Road, Oppos...	Hosur Road	Koramangala 4th Block
2735	4/5, 5th Cross, Laxmi Road, Shanti Nagar, Bang...	Shanti Nagar	Basavanagudi

32233	13th cross, 16th main, Tavarekere Main Road, B...	BTM	Koramangala 6th Block

Here, we can see that 3 column are representing same information, so just dropping column which are not important.

- we are going to keep the location column and drop the address and listed_in(city) columns
- columns url , phone , we are not interested in ,to be dropped too

In [9]:

drop unnecessary columns
column_to_drop = ['address','url' ,'listed_in(city)', 'phone'] data.drop(columns=column_to_drop, axis=1,inplace=True)
```

In [10]:

data.columns
```

Out[10]:

Index(['name', 'online_order', 'book_table', 'rate', 'votes', 'location', 'rest_type', 'dish_liked', 'cuisines', 'approx_cost(for two peopl e)',
       'reviews_list', 'menu_item', 'listed_in(type)'], dtype='object')

2.2.2 Remove Duplicates

Q.1) Is there duplicate values present in dataset? If yes then many of them are duplicate?

In [11]:

```python
check for duplicate values
print("No of Duplicates in dataset:  ",data.duplicated().sum())
```

No of Duplicates in dataset: 9809

In [12]:

```python
drop the duplicates
data.drop_duplicates(inplace=True)
```

2.2.3 Removing Null values

Q.2) Is there NULL values present in dataset? If yes then many they are (in %)?

In [13]:

check for null values
((data.isna().sum()/data.shape[0])*100).round(2)
```

Out[13]:

name                          0.00
online_order                  0.00
book_table                    0.00
rate                         10.15 votes                         0.00 location                      0.03 rest_type                     0.41
dish_liked                   48.22 cuisines                      0.09 approx_cost(for two people)   0.60 reviews_list                  0.00 menu_item                     0.00 listed_in(type)               0.00
dtype: float64

Observation:

- We can oberve that 54% dish_liked is missing as well as 15% rate values are missing.
- If we throw everything out, mean we are loosing more than 60% points.

Q.3) Can we do something, can we save some of the points?

But before removing NULL values lets understand, Rate colomn.

In [14]:

```python
check for unique values in the rate column
data.rate.unique()
```

Out[14]:

array(['4.1/5', '3.8/5', '3.7/5', '3.6/5', '4.6/5', '4.0/5', '4.2/5', '3.9/5', '3.1/5', '3.0/5', '3.2/5', '3.3/5', '2.8/5', '4.4/5', '4.3/5', 'NEW', '2.9/5', '3.5/5', nan, '2.6/5', '3.8 /5', '3.4/5', '4.5/5', '2.5/5', '2.7/5', '4.7/5', '2.4/5', '2.2/5', '2.3/5', '3.4 /5', '-', '3.6 /5', '4.8/5', '3.9 /5', '4.2 /5', '4.0 /5', '4.1 /5', '3.7 /5', '3.1 /5', '2.9 /5', '3.3 /5', '2.8 /5', '3.5 /5', '2.7 /5', '2.5 /5', '3.2 /5', '2.6 /5', '4.5 /5', '4.3 /5', '4.4 /5', '4.9/5', '2.1/5', '2.0/5', '1.8/5', '4.6 /5', '4.9 /5', '3.0 /5', '4.8 /5', '2.3 /5', '4.7 /5', '2.4 /5',
       '2.1 /5', '2.2 /5', '2.0 /5', '1.8 /5'], dtype=object)

Observation:

- There are some points which has 'NEW' rating and '-' rating, which is completely incorrect.

In [15]:

```python
data['rate'] = data['rate'].replace('NEW',np.NaN) data['rate'] = data['rate'].replace('-',np.NaN)
```

We can see that by default it has '/5' (divide by 5) arithmatic character, first we will remove this then proceed.

In [16]:

```python
data['rate'] = data.loc[:,'rate'].replace('[ ]','',regex = True) data['rate'] = data['rate'].astype(str) data['rate'] = data['rate'].apply(lambda r: r.replace('/5','')) data['rate'] = data['rate'].apply(lambda r: float(r))

data['rate'].head(2)

Out[16]:

```
0    4.1
1    4.1
Name: rate, dtype: float64

As we understood Rate colomn above, lets understand, dish_liked
But before that first go throght "Review_List"

In [17]:

```python
type(data.reviews_list[0])
```

Out[17]:

str
```

In [18]:

return to a list of tuples
data.reviews_list = data.reviews_list.apply(lambda x: ast.literal_eval(x))
type(data.reviews_list[0])
```

Out[18]:

list
```

In [19]:

check for the first input
data.reviews_list[0][0]
```

Out[19]:

('Rated 4.0',
 'RATED\n  A beautiful place to dine in.The interiors take you back to the Mughal era. The lightings are just perfect.We went there on the occasion o f Christmas and so they had only limited items available. But the taste an d service was not compromised at all.The only complaint is that the breads could have been better.Would surely like to come here again.')
```

Observation:

- We can see that in "Review_List" starting line come up with rating. 'Rated 4.0'.
- We can use this values and filled up 'Rate' colomn.

Q3A. Can we use this values as fill up in 'Rate' Colomn wherever it is missing? If yes then image we have saved that data point,ie information.

In [20]:

extract the rate for the first input from the review column
extracted = [float(i[0].replace('Rated','').strip()) for i in data.reviews_list[0]] extracted
```

Out[20]:

[4.0, 4.0, 2.0, 4.0, 5.0, 5.0, 4.0, 4.0, 5.0, 4.0, 4.0, 4.0]

Above are review for particular restaurant, we can use mean value.

In [21]:

extracted_mean = round((sum(extracted)/len(extracted)),1) extracted_mean
```

Out[21]:

```
4.1
```

- This is great. Lets Compare this value with 'Rate' colomn value.

In [22]:

```python
print("Extracted Rate: ",extracted_mean) print("Original Rate: ",data.rate[0])
```

```
Extracted Rate:  4.1
Original Rate:  4.1
```

- This is brillliant, lets do for all.

In [23]:

```python
def extract_features_from_review_list(x):
    '''
    extract the rate value out of a string inside tuple
    '''
    # ensure that x is not Null and there is more than one rate
    if not x or len(x) <= 1:
        return None rate = [float(i[0].replace('Rated','').strip())  for i in x if type(i[0])== str] return round((sum(rate)/len(rate)),1)
```

In [24]:

create new column
data['review_rate']  = data.reviews_list.apply(lambda x : extract_features_from_review_list(x))
```

In [25]:

```python
Compare "Original Rate" vs "Rate extracted from Review List"
data.loc[:,['rate','review_rate']].sample(10,random_state=1)

Out[25]:

	rate	review_rate
43076	4.0	4.0
49259	3.3	NaN
43257	4.5	4.2
30157	3.3	3.1
41110	3.8	4.0
34220	4.0	4.0
42520	3.0	3.3
45657	3.2	2.3
38218	3.3	3.9
4568	NaN	3.5

- Quite Closer.
- Ok, so we can replace missing value with this new adjustment.

In [26]:

get the before number of null values
data.rate.isna().sum()
```

Out[26]:

5914

In [27]:

```python
apply the changes
nan_index = data.query('rate != rate & review_rate == review_rate').index for i in nan_index:
    data.loc[i,'rate'] = data.loc[i,'review_rate']
```

In [28]:

```python
update the number of null values now
data.rate.isna().sum()
```

Out[28]:

4861

- Please notice we have saved more than 1000 points.

In [29]:

check now
((data.isna().sum()/data.shape[0])*100).round(2)
```

Out[29]:

name                          0.00
online_order                  0.00
book_table                    0.00

listed_in(type)               0.00
review_rate                  25.71
dtype: float64
```

- Purpose behind filling missing values has being accomplished, we can remove 'review_rate' colomn

Now we will remove missing values, from 'rate' and 'average_cost' colomn

In [30]:

```python
drop null values
data.dropna(subset=['rate', 'approx_cost(for two people)'],inplace=True)
```

In [31]:

```python
check shape

In [33]:

```python

In [34]:

```python

len(menu_list)
```

Out[37]:

118363

In [38]:

```python
Now collect the unique dish name
menu_set = set(menu_list)
```

As we replace review_rate into missing rate values can we do the same here.

Q.3B) Can we replace missing 'dish_liked' with 'menu_list' values?

In [39]:

clear the text
def clear_text(t):
    '''
    clear the input text t
    '''
    return ' '.join([i[1].replace("RATED\n  ",'') for i in t]).encode('utf8').decode('a replace('?','').replace('�','').replace('\n','').replace('.',' ').strip().lo wer()

```

In [40]:

```python
make a new column reviews_text
data['reviews_text'] = data.reviews_list.apply(lambda x: clear_text(x))
```

In [41]:

```python
check part of reviews text for the first restaurant

Clean up dist_like

- convert text to lower case.
- missing value could extract from review_list

In [42]:

```python

```python
make lower case
data.dish_liked = data.dish_liked.apply(lambda x:x.lower().strip() if isinstance(x,str) else x)
```

In [44]:

```python
example data.dish_liked[10000]
```

Out[44]:

nan

In [45]:

the solution
menu_set.intersection(data.reviews_text[10000].split(' '))
```

Out[45]:

```
{'chicken', 'fish', 'rice', 'thali'}
```

In [46]:

#creat a new column for the reviewed dish data['dish_n_review'] = data.reviews_text.apply(lambda x: ', '.join(list(menu_set.inter section(x.split(' ')))))
```

In [47]:

get sample to compare data.query('dish_liked != dish_liked')[['dish_liked','dish_n_review']].sample(5,random_

44323	NaN	rice, prawn, chicken, shawarma, tikka
6479	NaN
11046	NaN	rice
50112	NaN	coffee, cappuccino

So now, we can replace this missed values from the dish_n_review

In [48]:

fill in the missing values in dish_liked column with data from reviews
nan_index = data.query('dish_liked != dish_liked & dish_n_review == dish_n_review').ind ex
for i in nan_index:
    data.loc[i,'dish_liked'] = data.loc[i,'dish_n_review']
```

In [49]:

Now let's test our work
data.dish_liked[10000]
```

Out[49]:

'chicken, rice, fish, thali'
```

- Now we can drop the menu_list & menu_set

In [50]:

del menu_list del menu_set
```

In [51]:

```python
first let's drop the review_rate column now
data.drop(columns=['reviews_text','review_rate','dish_n_review'],axis=1,inplace=True)
```

In [52]:

```python
check for null values

- Now thing looked quite good. There is no missing values.

2.1.2 Data Visualizations

Q.4) What is distrubution of 'Rate column'?

Now it is fine, now we can proceed.

In [54]:

```
data.rate.hist(color='blue') plt.axvline(x= data.rate.mean(),ls='--',color='red') plt.title('Average Rating for Bangalore Restaurants',weight='bold') plt.xlabel('Rating')
plt.ylabel('No of Restaurants')
print("Mean is : ",data.rate.mean())
```

Mean is :   3.7208921589921804
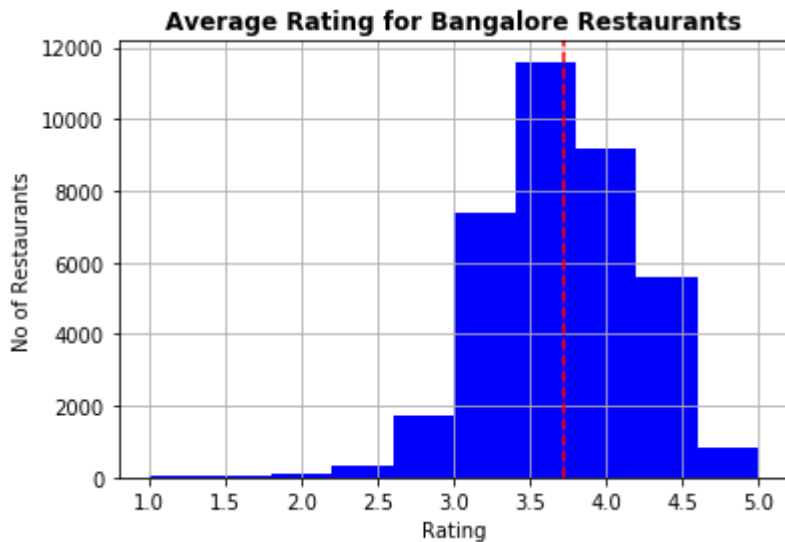

Observation:

- Average rating is 3.7 in banglore for zomato.

Q.5) Which are the top 20 restaurant in the Banglore? What is their count

In [55]:

```
data.name.value_counts().head()
```

Out[55]:

```
Onesta               85
Cafe Coffee Day      84
Empire Restaurant    69
Kanti Sweets         66
Just Bake            62
Name: name, dtype: int64
```

In [56]:

```python
plt.figure(figsize=(12,6))
ax =data.name.value_counts()[:20].plot(kind='bar') ax.legend(['* Restaurants'])
plt.xlabel('No of Restaurants') plt.ylabel('Count of Restaurant')
plt.title("Name Vs Number of Restaurants", fontsize=20, weight='bold')
```

Out[56]:

Text(0.5, 1.0, 'Name Vs Number of Restaurants')
Observation

- we can say that 'Onesta' day has highest count among all

Q.6) How many Restaurant accepting online orders?

In [57]:

plt.figure(figsize=(8,3))
ax =data.online_order.value_counts().plot(kind='bar') plt.title('Number of Restaurants accepting online orders', weight='bold') plt.xlabel('online orders')
plt.ylabel('counts')

data.online_order.value_counts()
```

Out[57]:

```
Yes     24969
No      11863
Name: online_order, dtype: int64
```

Number of Restaurants accepting online orders

Observation:

- Most of order are onlines.
- no missing values in online order colomn

Q.7) How many Restaurant have option to book a table?

In [58]:

plt.figure(figsize=(8,3))
ax =data.book_table.value_counts().plot(kind='bar') plt.title('Number of Restaurants has book table option', weight='bold') plt.xlabel('book table facility')
plt.ylabel('counts')

data.book_table.value_counts()
```

Out[58]:

```
No      30799
Yes      6033
Name: book_table, dtype: int64
```

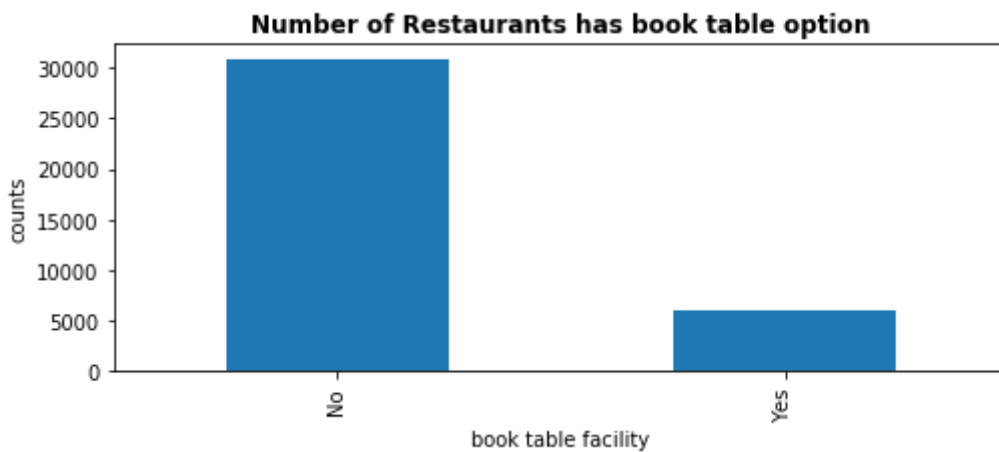

Observation

- Most of restaurant do not have book table facility

Q.8) In banglore city,in which area has maximum number of restaurants? Also find percetage for the same.

In [59]:

```python
plt.figure(figsize=(8,8))
ax =data.location.value_counts().plot(kind='pie')
plt.title('Location', weight='bold')
```

Out[59]:

Text(0.5, 1.0, 'Location')

Its very complicated to understand so we will limit ourself to TOP 10 locations

In [60]:

```python
plt.figure(figsize=(8,8))
ax =data.location.value_counts()[:10].plot(kind='pie')
plt.title('Location', weight='bold')
```

Out[60]:

Text(0.5, 1.0, 'Location')
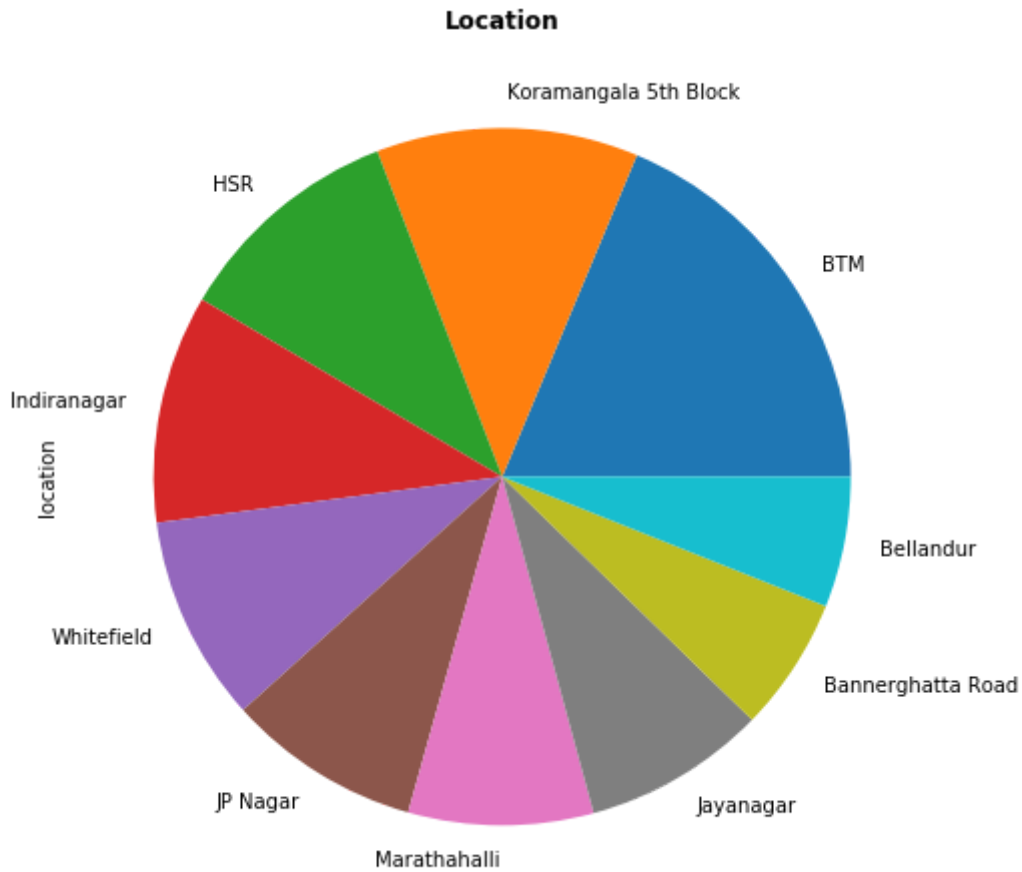

Observation

- We can say that BTM location, where most of restaurant are available

Q9.1) Percentage.

In [61]:

https://stackoverflow.com/questions/6170246/how-do-i-use-matplotlib-autopct

plt.figure(figsize=(8,8))
values = data.location.value_counts()[:10] labels = data['location'].value_counts()[:10].index
plt.pie(values, labels=labels, autopct='%.2f')
plt.title('Location percentage', weight='bold')
plt.show()
```

Location percentage
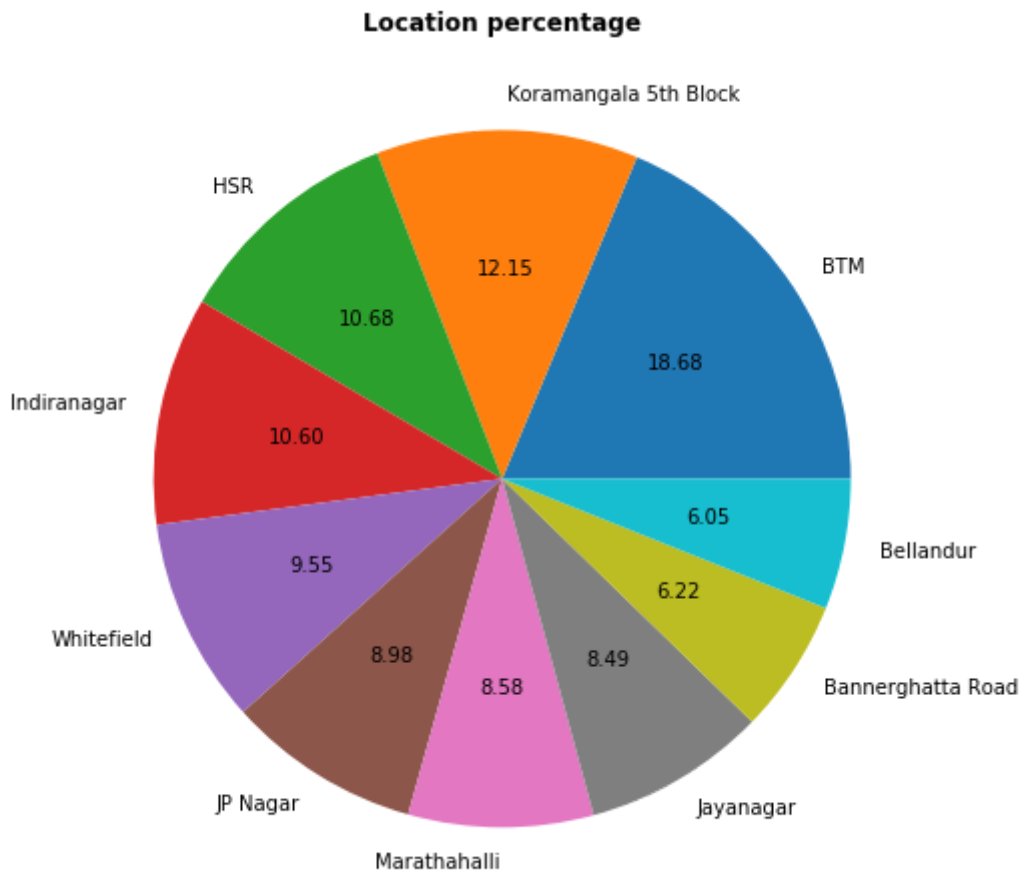

Observation:

Now picture seems very clear, maximum restaurant are in BTM follows by HSR,Koramangla, JP Nagar, .. so on.

Q9.2 Now, we know percentage of top 10 area, lets find count of each area.

In [62]:

```python
plt.figure(figsize=(8,3))
ax =data.location.value_counts()[:10].plot(kind='bar')
plt.title('Number of Restaurants in given location', weight='bold')
plt.xlabel('Area')
plt.ylabel('counts')
```

Out[62]:

Text(0, 0.5, 'counts')

Observation

- BTM area has around 3k restaurants.

In [63]:

```python
data['location'].nunique() ## Neighbourhoods in banglore
```

Out[63]:

92

Q.10) What type of restaurant are there in banglore? also percetage and counts

In [64]:

```python
plt.figure(figsize=(8,8))
values = data.rest_type.value_counts()[:10] labels = data['rest_type'].value_counts()[:10].index
plt.pie(values, labels=labels, autopct='%.2f')
plt.title('Type of Restaurant in City(%) ', weight='bold')
plt.show()
```

Type of Restaurant in City(%)
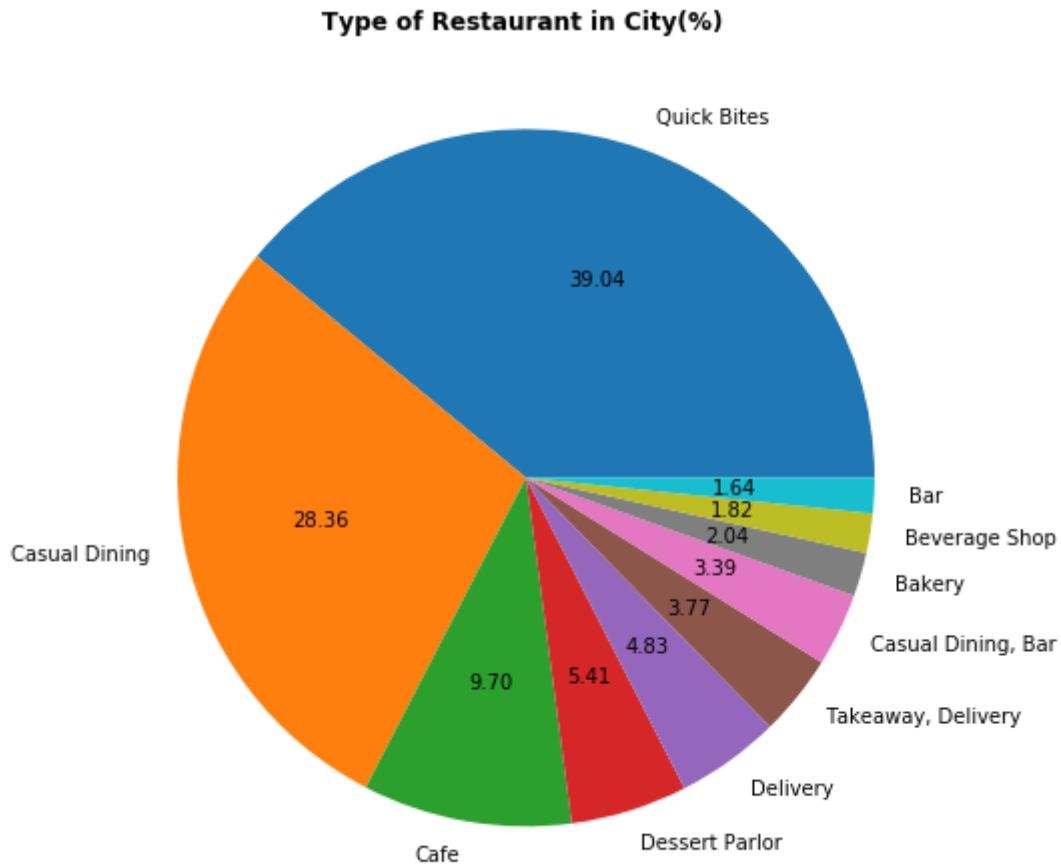

In [65]:

```python
plt.figure(figsize=(8,3))
ax =data.rest_type.value_counts()[:10].plot(kind='bar')
plt.title('Number of Restaurants in given location', weight='bold')
plt.xlabel('Area')
plt.ylabel('counts')
```

Out[65]:

Text(0, 0.5, 'counts')
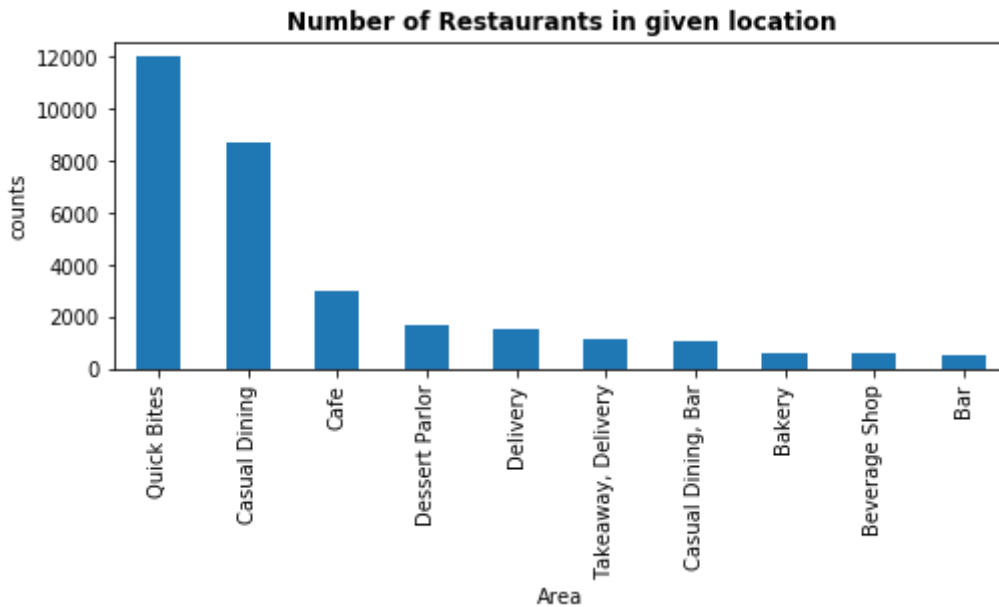

Observation

- "Quick beats" is leading in the race, which is close to 12k follow by "Causal Dining" which is around 8K

Q.11) What is the Average cost in restaurants?

In [66]:

```python
plt.figure(figsize=(8,8))
values = data.average_cost.value_counts()[:10] labels = data['average_cost'].value_counts()[:10].index
plt.pie(values, labels=labels, autopct='%.2f')
plt.title('Average cost for two person(in %) ', weight='bold')
plt.show()
```

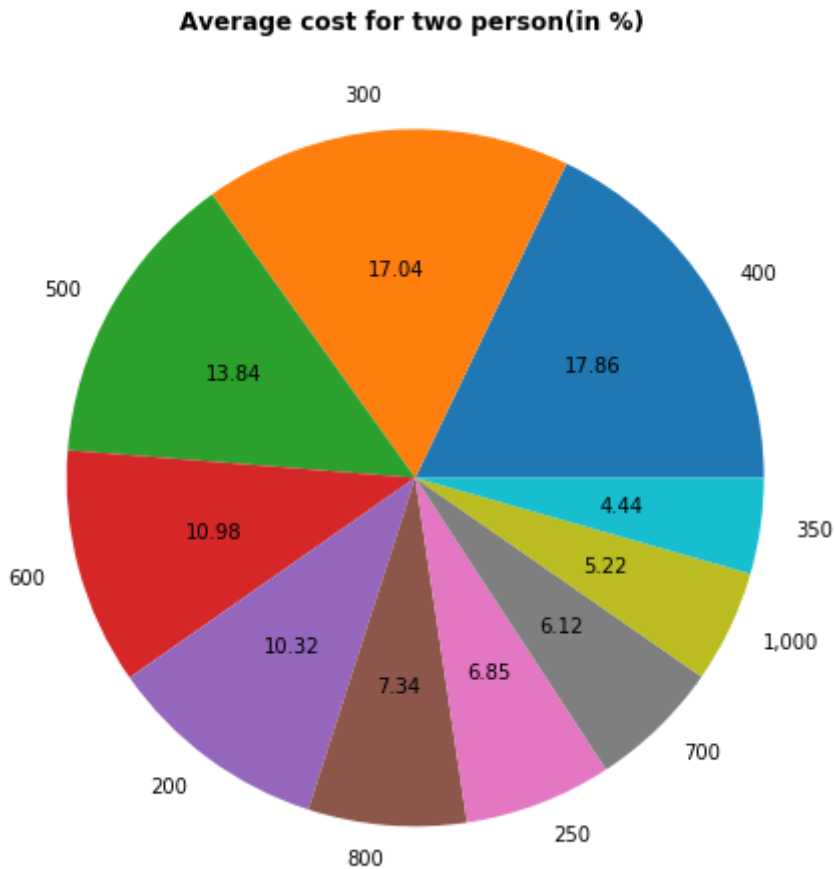

Observation

There is 17.86% percetage chances that for two person average cost will be 400 and 17.04% chance that cost will be 300. so on.

Q.12) Which dish are most famous/favourite dish in restaurants?

In [67]:

```python
data.dish_liked.nunique()
```

Out[67]:

7479

Before we dive in remember that at initial stages we observe that dist_like colomn has some missing values. so first remove missing values then proceed.

In [68]:

#lets delete the nulll values

data1 = data.copy()

dishes_data = data1[data1.dish_liked.notnull()] dishes_data.dish_liked = dishes_data.dish_liked.apply(lambda x:x.lower().strip())
```

In [69]:

```
dishes_data.isnull().sum()
```

Out[69]:

name                0

8    pizza, mocktails, coffee, nachos, salad, pasta...
9    waffles, pasta, coleslaw sandwich, choco waffl...
Name: dish_liked, dtype: object
```

We can see that each row has contained multiple dishes separated by "commma".

In [71]:

```python
count each dish to see how many times each dish repeated
dish_count = [] for i in dishes_data.dish_liked: ## iterate in each rows in table for t in i.split(','):
        t = t.strip() # remove the white spaces to get accurate results

plt.xlabel('Dish')
plt.ylabel('Count')
```

Out[73]:

```
Text(0, 0.5, 'Count')
```

Observation

- We can see that 'pasta' is most favourite dish followed by 'burger' followed by 'cocktails'.

In [74]:

```python
dish_set = set(dish_count) dish_word_cloud = ', '.join(dish_set)

plt.figure( figsize=(15,10) )

plt.imshow(wc, interpolation='bilinear') plt.title('Word Cloud for favourite dishes',weight='bold') plt.axis("off")
plt.imshow(wc)
plt.show()
```

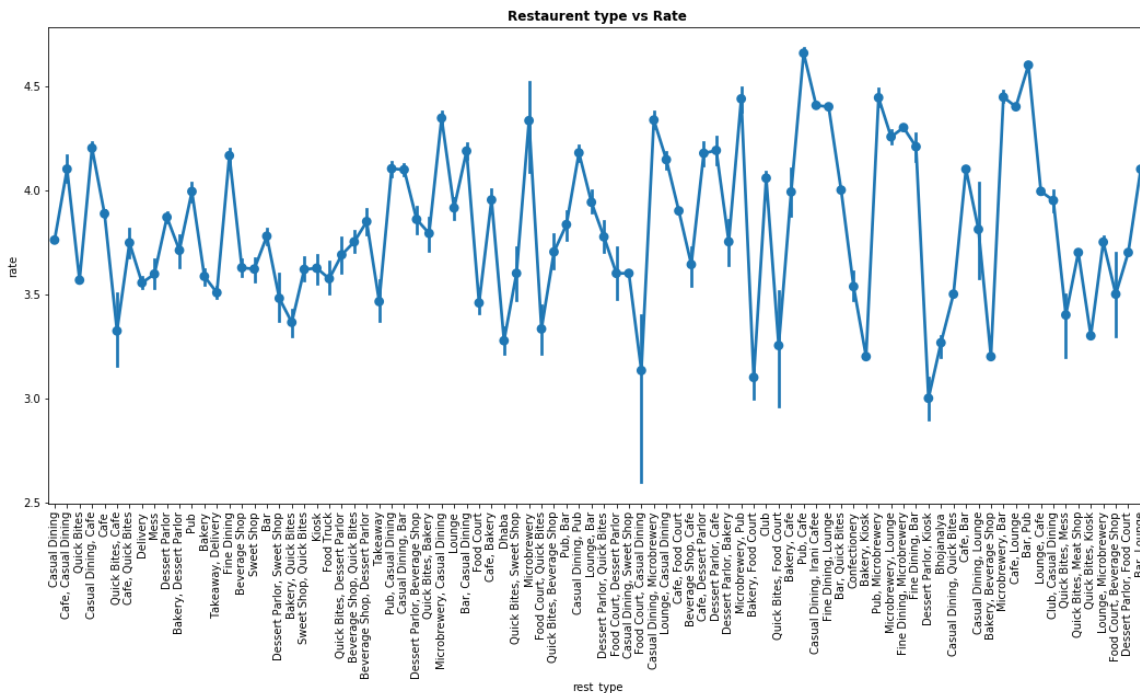

Word Cloud for favourite dishes
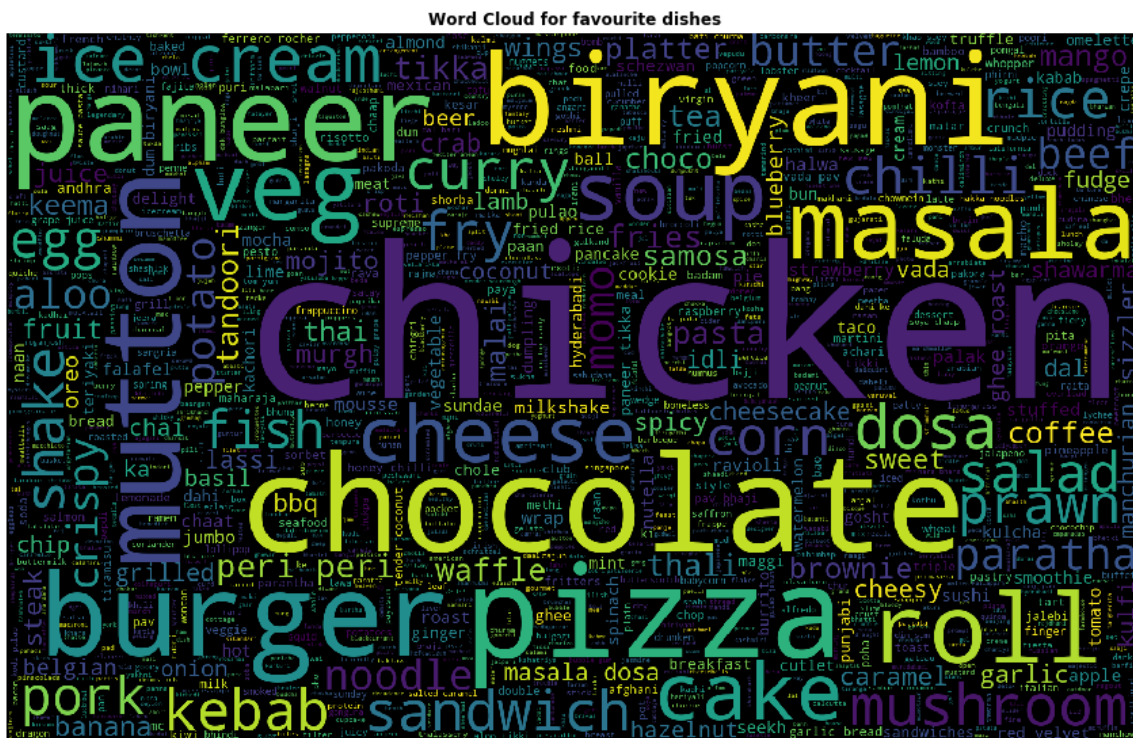

Q.9) Lets see 'Rate' vs 'Restaurant type' graph.

In [75]:

```python
f,ax=plt.subplots(figsize=(18,8))
g = sns.pointplot(x=data["rest_type"], y=data["rate"], data=data)
g.set_xticklabels(g.get_xticklabels(), rotation=90) plt.title('Restaurent type vs Rate', weight = 'bold')
plt.show()
```

Q.10) Print top 10 Cuisines

In [76]:

```python
cuisines_data = data[data.cuisines.notnull()] cuisines_data.cuisines = cuisines_data.cuisines.apply(lambda x:x.lower().strip())
```
In [77]:

```python cuisines_count= []

plt.title('Top 10 cuisines in Bangalore',weight='bold') plt.xlabel('cuisines type') plt.ylabel('No of restaurants')
```

Out[78]:

Text(0, 0.5, 'No of restaurants')

Observation

- North Indian food is at top, followed by chinease and so on.

In [79]:

```python
cuisines_set = set(cuisines_count) cuisines_word_cloud = ', '.join(cuisines_set)
```

In [80]:

```

Q.11) Lets plot 'Rate' vs 'Online order'
In [82]:

plt.figure(figsize = (12,6))
sns.countplot(x=data['rate'], hue = data['online_order']) plt.ylabel("Restaurants that Accept/Not Accepting online orders") plt.title("rate vs oline order",weight = 'bold')
```

Out[82]:

After above experiment we got below result

- MSE: 0.034853600229303999 == 200 (n_estimators)
- MSE: 0.034615859400387666 ==250 (n_estimators)
- MSE: 0.0333620113806332284 == 500 (n_estimators)
- MSE: 0.033503516544483965 ===1000 (n_estimators)
- MSE: 0.033083536144839625 ===1200 (n_estimators)

We can clearly see that MSE values is dropping but fact is to run 1200 estimators it take more than 4.5 hours on my system(i5 7Gen, 16GB RAM), to run 1000 n_estimators is took almost 3 hours.

So we can reduce MSE value further but training time is increases accordingly so I decide to stop on this experiments.

Final n_estimators choose 200.

Not Null Features only

Till now, we have considered ONE-HOT encoding of on below features.

- rest_type

Here we are going to include below features also,

Obviously we have to deal with large features set.

After above experiment we got below result

- MSE: 0.014044408085530756 == 200 (n_estimators)
- MSE: 0.014195859400387666 ==250 (n_estimators)
- MSE: 0.014120113806332284 == 500 (n_estimators)
- MSE: 0.014103516544483965 ===1000 (n_estimators)
- MSE: 0.014083536144839625 ===1200 (n_estimators)

We can clearly see that MSE values is dropping but fact is to run 1200 estimators it take more than 4.5 hours on my system(i5 7Gen, 16GB RAM), to run 1000 n_estimators is took almost 3 hours.

So we can reduce MSE value further but training time is increases accordingly so I decide to stop on this experiments.

Final n_estimators choose 300.

rfr.fit(X_train,y_train)
y_pred_rfr = rfr.predict(X_test)

4. Feature Engineering

Let's try response coding in categorical variable on regression model.

Basically what we are going to do replace categorical features with response coded features. In simple words we are going to consider each categorical feature once and find mean value of 'Rate' column.

Eg.==>
Consider "online_order" feature, which has two categories, 'Yes' and 'No'. So we will do a small hack, which is explained as below,

- consider category as 'Yes' in 'online_order', take mean value of 'Rate'
- similarly consider second category as 'No' in 'online_order', take mean value of 'Rate' column.
- We will perform above logic using group_by on desired categorical column and simple take a mean of 'Rate' column.
- Create new column which will contain mean values.
- we will called it as MEAN VALUE REPLACEMENT

6. Summary

We collect data from CSV file, half of values were missing, we did not throw up all values, instead of throw NULL value we tried to fill estimate values using related colomn.
We tried only 5 one-hot encoded features and try different models Random Forest Regressor was most learning model, so we tune model using gridsearch technic, minimal MSE = 0.03485.
Then we tried with 7 one-hot encoded features and try on different models.Again Random Forest regressor was winning the race.
we achieved MSE = 0.01404.

Then we done some Feature Engineering, used response coded feature, but this time "Linear Regression" perform well than previous model , Random Forest Regressor is winning the race as usual. Finally we achieved MSE =0.00353.

End of the day,below model are best among all the version.

- Random Forest Regressor Response coded Features ==> 0.00353
